Course Description (Catalog)

This course examines criminal behavior in relationship to various criminological theories and analyses these theories through a historical context. These theories include classical theories and current theories of crime as they relate to criminal involvement. Additionally this course will analyze society's response to criminal behavior through the assessment of legal approaches and the various aspects of the criminal justice system. Additionally types of criminal behavior and the systems reaction to these crimes will be distinguished. Research affecting social policy and public crime concerns are examined including social problems and social responsibility perspectives as well.
CMRJ303 is an undergraduate course, which is divided into 8 weeks and is organized to give students a broad context in which to study the history, theories, and responses to crime and criminology, using a unique blend of both social science and legal research. It includes legal case excerpts to demonstrate the role of the courts in the reformation of the criminal justice system, and gives the student a solid understanding of the integral relationship between the law and theories of criminal behavior. Current topics such as hate crimes, "three strikes" sentencing, changes in Megan's Law, and the law and the internet, are explored beyond the headlines, examining the implications of our governing theories and policies. Instruction is primarily textbook driven with accompanied online lectures and online classroom weekly forums.

Because it is a survey course of a broad subject, it will out of necessity; cover each topic with a broad brush. However, the lessons area and online forums will allow a deeper look into any subject area that particularly attracts the student. The student will learn how to use the World Wide Web to research topics related to the material discussed and covered in the textbook.

Evaluation Procedures

Your final grade in this course will be based on the following course requirements:

1. Graded Introduction: This is a graded requirement. This forum is to invite you to accomplish two things: 1) build peer- to-peer relationships by introducing oneself and one’s background to the class; 2) articulate individual student learning goals and/or expectations for the class. There is a 250 word requirement for your introduction post.
2. Research Paper/Term Project: Each student will be required to complete the term project, which is an 8-10 page research paper in APA Style. The project should have 8-10 pages not counting the cover, abstract and reference page.

3. Mid-Term Examination: A mid-term exam is required. The mid-term exam is an open book exam with no time limit. The exam will be posted in the electronic classroom at the beginning of week 4. Chapters 1-9 will be covered. Students must complete the exam inside the electronic classroom and submit the exam by the end of week 4.

4. Final Examination: The final exam will be an open book exam that is designed to test the student’s knowledge of the subject matter. Chapters 10-18 will be covered. The final exam will be posted at the beginning of week 8 and is required to be taken within the electronic classroom and submitted by the end of the course.

5. Forum Questions and Responses to Other Students Work Weeks 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8: Each student will be required to answer the weekly forum question and respond to at least two other students. The forum questions can be found on the Forum Board. Students will be required to submit their weekly forum question response to the proper forum board. Students will follow posting instructions in the classroom pertaining to forum due dates and number of words required in posts.

Classroom participation is necessary for distance education. This is not a correspondence course you have to interact with your fellow students and your professor. The more interaction that we achieve will increase our knowledge of each other, the course material, and the learning process.

It is imperative that the student stays in contact with the professor and university. If your work schedule changes, or you are deployed, a family emergency occurs, or anything that will cause your course assignments to be late. You must make contact with the class professor. The class professor will work out a personal class completion schedule with the student. It is the student’s responsibility to advise the professor of any changes that will cause course assignments to be late. It is the instructor’s discretion to either deny or grant an extension based on information that is provided to the class professor.

Students should log into the classroom several times a week and check forum boards and emails. If the student fails to communicate or stay in contact with the course professor they may be dropped or fail the course. It is strongly suggested to communicate openly and freely with the course professor. If you need anything, communicate with the course professor first to work out any problems.

- 12 - point font Times New Roman style.

CITATION AND REFERENCE STYLE

Attention Please: Students will follow the APA Format as the sole citation and reference style used in written work submitted as part of coursework to the University. Assignments completed in a narrative essay or composition format must follow APA guidelines. This course will require students to use the citation and reference style established by the American Psychological Association (APA), in which case students should follow the guidelines set forth in Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.). Washington, D.C.: American Psychological Association.

Late Assignments

Students are expected to submit classroom assignments by the posted due date and to complete the course according to the published class schedule. As adults, students, and working professionals, I understand you must manage competing demands on your time. Should you need additional time to complete an assignment, please contact me before the due date so we can discuss the situation and determine an acceptable resolution. Routine submission of late assignments is unacceptable and may result in points deducted from your final course grade.

Deductions:

Late forum posts can be penalized up to 5 points per day

Late assignments can be penalized up to 5 points per day

Netiquette

Online universities promote the advance of knowledge through positive and constructive debate—both inside and outside the classroom. Forums on the Internet, however, can occasionally degenerate into needless insults and flaming. Such activity and the loss of good manners are not acceptable in a university setting—basic academic rules of good behavior and proper Netiquette must persist. Remember that you are in a place for the fun and excitement of learning that does not include descent to personal attacks, or student attempts to stifle the forum of others.

Technology Limitations: While you should feel free to explore the full-range of creative composition in your formal papers, keep e-mail layouts simple. The Educator classroom may not fully support MIME or HTML encoded messages, which means that bold face, italics, underlining, and a variety of color-coding or other visual effects will not translate in your e-mail messages.

Humor Note: Despite the best of intentions, jokes and--especially--satire can easily get lost or taken seriously. If you feel the need for humor, you may wish to add emoticons to help alert your readers: ;-), : ), 😊.
